Greetings from Vegas, and sorry for the long delay in my reply.

Your assessment of Mr. --- ----- was dead on, as evidenced by my enclosed reply to him.

Regarding carrying your newsletters.... I might be interested in selling your newsletters, but I would be much more interested in facilitating their appearance on the internet, where they would reach a far larger audience and would become an important reference work. You can't charge for SUN when it is on-line, but I suspect that this is less important to you than getting the word out.

I have already arranged to get Saucer Smear on-line, soliciting an enthusiastic volunteer to convert them. Your SUN is far more important.

As mentioned in the latest issue of Desert Rat, enclosed, I am working on a comprehensive database of ufologists. If Sun were on-line, we could make direct links from each ufologist to the passages in SUN that makes reference to him. Then when someone looks up a ufologist, they will get instant access to what SUN said about them. Then we can be sure that sins will not be forgotten.

Is there anything I can do to help get SUN on-line? I thought I saw some rumblings of it coming on-line, but I have not found the site. Have you given the task to someone? Can I provide volunteers or web space to help out?

Of course, you would retain copyright over all of your material, and what you see on-line would be exactly the same as the printed version.

For your info, I have enclosed some pages from my ufologist file. You may feel free to mention any of this in SUN if you wish. (You may even want to solicit your own web volunteers in SUN.)
