Let us realize that what happens around us is largely outside our control, but that the way we choose to react to it is inside our control.

 - ¶"This bibliography originally appeared in Archaeus 4 (1986)" according to the end of this page. However the first time I saw this bibliography, albeit in a previous incarnation, it was attached to a document purporting to be: Extreme Low Frequency Magnetic Fields and EEG Entrainment, a Psychotronic Warfare Possibility? Preliminary Research Report, Sept. 1977 This version is significantly updated with the help of Eldon A. Byrd and includes emf research cites from NAMRL [Naval Aerospace Medical Research Laboratory (Pensacola, Fla.)]

 - ¶Some of the recent research suggests that EM behavioral effects include changes in perception (visual and auditory), circadian rhythms and other biological 'clocks', reaction time and reflexes, and orientation/navigation ability in animals. Some report feelings of disorientation, nerve paralysis (note carefully... this occurs in conjunction with UFO reports), and discomfort. ELF radiation, when in the range of brain activity (below 20 Hz), can cause EEG (electroencephalograph) changes.
