Quote of the Week

"I drive through the streets of South Central and point out to my driver the undercover FBI agents who are standing on the street corners just waiting to arrest people for buying or selling a single rock of crack cocaine."

-- U.S. Congresswoman Maxine Waters on the "war on drugs"

Rant of the Week!

Some of you wrote in after last week's rant asking if it was a real letter. We (obviously) aren't suggesting the "facts" of our weekly rants are real, but they really are genuine letters received by us here at ParaScope headquarters. So, trust us when we present this real letter, (an excerpt of a larger rant) that is our new rant of the week:

"In addition to these activities, a large Sirian Peace Angel was successfully anchored onto Haleakala on November 11, 1996 (9 Ahau, 8 Xul, 5 Eb) during my birthday visit to Maui. Before the ceremony was performed, many people reported that a large angelic shaped cloud was seen off the coast of the south west part of Maui in the Kihei-Wailea area in the early and mid-morning of the same date. The purpose of this anchoring was to complete the energies needed to prepare Earth's new grid for its vitalization before end of December or the ending of the galactic month of Mol. These grids are part of the entire process of preparing Earth for the divine intervention of the Galactic Federation of Light by a mass landing on or before the date of December 17, 1996 (in galactic time, 6 Cib, 4 Mol, 5 Eb). These landings are proceeding on time and have been marked by the increasing boldness and activity of the ships of the galactic fleet."

[Alas, the landing did not take place. Keep watching the skies! Reprinted with spelling and grammar goofs unchanged. Names withheld to protect the ranter.s.]

Help Identify the "Mysterious Cameraman"

Someone wants to keep you from seeing the face of the mysterious cameraman who is purported to have shot the infamous "alien autopsy" footage. Despite efforts to suppress the photo, ParaScope has posted the cameraman's picture on both our web and AOL sites, and are interested in any leads our readers can offer as to the individual's identity. Check out next week's update to this tangled scenario, and see if the "alien autopsy cameraman" is a face you've seen before!

Coming Up Next Week!

Catch all these stories next week, on a daily basis on America Online, or next Thursday on the web site!

Monday, Feb 3: The Lesotho Incident

According to documents obtained by ufologist Joachim Koch, an extraterrestrial craft crashed in the kingdom of Lesotho, South Africa on September 15, 1995. The craft, and its live alien occupants, were retrieved by a covert South African rapid reaction force. Are these documents a Majestic 12-style hoax, or are they a cosmic "smoking gun?" ParaScope cautiously presents Joachim Koch's analysis of the Lesotho Incident.

Tuesday, Feb 4: Supernatural Psywar in the Congo

Some people will do ANYTHING to win a war, and paranormal counterinsurgency is never out of the question. In the Congo, the CIA and Defense Department used propaganda to exploit the myths and irrational fears of their "target" audiences, invoking the supernatural to advance combat and counterinsurgency aims. This Dossier special report takes a look at paranormal psywar in the heart of Africa.

Wednesday, Feb 5: Alien Autopsy Cameraman Update

First we showed you what he looked like, now find out what he said. A videotaped interview of the supposed "alien autopsy" cameraman has surfaced, re-igniting the controversy over the best-known hoax in recent memory. This update includes excerpts of the interview, hitherto broadcast only in Japan. Can the alleged cameraman patch up the holes in Ray Santilli's story, or is this just another scam?

Thursday, Feb 6: The "Hazards" of "X-Files Fiction"

Okay, folks, stop watching the X-Files, and for crying out loud, stop visiting ParaScope! Can't you see you're rotting your heads?! You need to learn about REAL science! So says an Oxford professor, who claims the paranormal infestation of pop culture is impairing people's ability to learn the "truth". Find out why you're all being mentally impaired by the paranormal, and listen to what Chris Carter had to say in defense of his show at a recent CSICOP conference.

Friday, Feb 7: Connecting the Dots With Maxine Waters

Maxine Waters is mad as hell, and she's not going to take it any more! As the Congressional representative for much of the South Central region of Los Angeles, Maxine Waters has a history of tackling controversial issues. But now, she finds herself smack in the middle of a conspiracy stretching back to the Reagan administration and beyond. Waters is calling for greater investigation and accountability regarding the CIA's role in the spread of crack through Los Angeles, and has vowed to keep "connecting the dots" with her own investigation. Catch up with the latest details of what she's found out in this ParaScope exclusive!

Join the Revolution

Can you smell it? It's the scent of fear! The corporations, power-brokers and media moguls are running scared as the populist masses take their case to the Net in a digital revolution that is changing the planet. The propaganda war is already underway, and ParaScope is fighting for you! Join the crusade.

Web Wizard/Java Jockey Wanted

Can you program Perl like a hyperactive squirrel? Does working with Tcl seldom leave you in a pickle? Do find CGI as easy as pie? When it comes to flowing programming code, does your java run like molten lava? If you answered yes to these questions, then we want you to help us make our web-site slick, cool, easy-to-use, state of the art, and a hell of a lot of fun. Send us your name and a little information about yourself so we can give your life meaning by making you part of the ParaScope team. (Your application need not rhyme!)

Send your web programming qualifications and personal data to parascope@aol.com with "web help" in the subject line.
