Subject: Information Sought & 'B2' Sighting

Dear Colleagues,

I was hoping someone with more knowledge about these matters than I could confirm the following:

"US Naval submarines do not carry surface to air missiles"

In light of the TWA 800 incident, perhaps someone can shed light on this?

On a separate note:

At exactly 12.50pm today, a motorist travelling on the A14 in Cambridgeshire, England, saw a B-2 'flying wing' make a slow 90 degree turn into low cloud at a height of approximately 1,000 feet.

The motorist called me within minutes of the sighting on his mobile phone to report the matter. He was somewhat excited...

Best regards,

Graham W. Birdsall [Editor]
