Quotes Query

 Subject: Quotes Query

Can anyone here help me?

I'm looking for the exact original form of two well-known quotes. One is J. Allen Hynek's line about 21st century science, and the other is the Arthur C. Clarke chestnut about an advanced technology being indistinguishable from magic.

I've seen these written so many times. I've seen them quoted here. But I don't have them anywhere that I know of.

Surely someone here knows one or the other, and can take a moment to type them out for me!

Many thanks (and a share in the residuals from the piece I'm writing, that I want to quote these lines in...and if you think there's any money in that, let me tell you about a writer's life....<ggg>)
