My Dear Friends,

As you may know, a lot of testing has gone on in regards to the alleged Roswell piece of derbies. Test results are available from USCD, STANFORD, via Charles Evans labs, a private lab in Texas and from a NASA scientist in a double blinded study. The persons performing the particular tests dealing with the isotopic ratios via icp/ms and SIMS equipment show a consistency in isotopic ratios being extraterrestrial in origin. Further testing is still ongoing. We are setting up a site on the WWW that will allow skeptical scientists to do all further work on alleged ET related materials. UFO related scientists will monitor the results and testing and this will be to the benefit of all and keep difficulties from arising in the future. One situation is facing us as we speak. It to this issue I ask for your advise and support.

We have been offered a Television special. The persons involved love the content and want to present this in the best light as possible. We have secured the final approval and scripting approval. There will be no debunkers or other "scientists" to come on and attack the findings. We have worked hard to get these agreements. As you may know in Television, this is unheard of.

We, at this point need a PhD scientist to come forward and review our material and (if they agree with the data), to make a statement as to the materials Extraterrestrial origins based upon the findings. If the scientists in question, does not agree with the findings, then we would not want them to make a statement against their will. We, and others feel like the evidence warrants a specific statement to this effect. The scientists involved in the past testing do not wish to make a public statement on TV due to papers that are being written and further testing is still ongoing.

I will make the test results available to a scientist whom you may recommend to review these documents. Other scientists agree we have a good case, skeptical scientists are scratching their heads. The fact is, for the TV program we need someone in the Chemistry or Physics area to make a statement of fact based on the findings, nothing additional. We are not looking for a person to say this is an alien craft material.

My question to you all, is, do you have some person who may be willing to look at the data and give an opinion. If the data is strong enough, would that person go on TV and make that statement. The person would be paid for their professional time to do so, and all their expenses would be taken care of.

The catch. We have 8 days to find this person.

I would appreciate you rapid attention to this matter and keep this in strictest confidence even as I keep yours.

PS I have been hospitalized for minor illness and now my son is in for surgery this week. All is well and I thank you for you swift attention.

RSVP ASAP

Sincerely yours,

Derrel Sims
