Quote of the Week

"The only thing I was trying to get was an autograph for one of my kids, but other than that I had no ulterior motive."

-- Clinton Administration National Security Adviser Sandy Berger on his meeting last year with a group of Scientologists, including actor/singer/dancer/lobbyist John Travolta. Berger declined to explain how autographs, Scientology or meetings with celebrities qualified as a national security concern.

Rant of the Week: "Crank, Nuts and Screwballs"

Every week we pick the wackiest, scariest, nastiest or funniest rant from the hundreds of letters received by us here at ParaScope headquarters, and present it to you as our Rant of the Week. This week, we're please to present a diverse collection of "mini-rants" excerpts from "Crank, Nuts and Screwballs," a 1965 report by CIA operative David R. McLean detailing some of the more bizarre correspondence received by the agency. You can find an in-depth analysis and full details on the "Crank, Nuts and Screwballs" report online in ParaScope's Dossier section. Enjoy.

"I have always had adequate sex that no one appreciated. I need a better grade of iron to eat, and so do the astronauts." (Excerpt from a July 1964 letter to the Director of Central Intelligence.)

"A defenseless woman having husband trouble sincerely requests your help." (June 1964 letter to the DCI, enclosing picture of a convertible and address of a suburban motel.)

"O.K.! Keep me off the payroll. I'll try and sell my abilities to the Soviet Union." (1965 postcard peevishly addressed to the U.S. Lower Intelligence Agency.)

"Please be informed, old pal, I have entered my name with the 87th Congress as a candidate for the Presidency of the United States in the next elections. If I make it, I am going to reinstate you in CIA." (1962 letter to Allen W. Dulles.)

"You can tell John A. McCone to go to hell if you think I'm s way after all I've done for you people." (Early morning telephone call from "Agent 44" on his release from the drunk cell of a Washington police precinct.)

Coming Up Next Week!

Catch a number of great stories next week on a daily basis on America or all at once next Friday on the web site, including daily updates to our Conspiracy Newline and Daily Dose features. Among the articles you'll want to check out:

Dastardly Doings at Davos

Davos, Switzerland. Site of the annual World Economic Forum. Ground zero for the global elite's fulfillment of its long-sought dream of a global economic infrastructure that is completely under their domination. ParaScope presents an overview of Davos 1998's key events, including the "Multinational Agreement on Infrastructure," the "final solution" offered by Western power-brokers to solve global banking woes.

The Shaver Mystery

From Inner Earth to the Grassy Knoll, the Shaver Mystery -- born in the pulpy pages of Amazing Stories -- has for years ensnared believers in its cleverly-marketed web of mythology. Indeed, it was through the Shaver Mystery that the groundwork of alien abductions and extraterrestrial flying saucers was laid. Some of the very foundations of ufology, as well as the rumors of underground alien bases at Dulce, New Mexico, were all set in the firm cement of the Shaver Mystery. Richard Toronto, veteran researcher of Shaver lore, shares his first-hand knowledge on this controversial topic.

Cry 'Havoc!' and Let Loose the Pies of War

Which one of us hasn't at some point yearned to smack Microsoft Chairman "Dollar" Bill Gates square in the face with a giant cream pie? Sure, we've also probably wanted to eviscerate him with a rusty carving knife, but you don't get the electric chair for smacking someone with a pie. The recent pie attack by Noel Godin and his associates on Gates is the first exposure many Americans have had with the subversive world of pieing. But it turns out subversives here gh and mighty for years.
Yet the mainstream media has scarcely covered these brilliantly inspired protests. Did you know, for instance, that every Watergate conspirator except for Tricky Dick himself fell victim to guerrilla pie attacks. D. Trull explores the world of pie flinging as politico-social protest and the apparent conspiracy of silence on the part of the media in failing to cover the pie agenda.

...All this, and much, much more!
