I'm not familiar with SRI ... can you give me a little bit more information on this? In particular keep in mind that faraday cages have to be constructed *very* carefully if you want to block out everything.

I'm also assuming we're talking about experiments in which the sender does not in any way select the information to be sent.

I don't accept the validity of *anything* beyond a "shadow" of a doubt. But I will say that although some of the initial Psi experiments had some huge statistical problems, more recent ones do seem to show the phenomenon is valid.

That's nothing new; most scientists of a particular era think their science is complete.
