Subject: More On Ramey Photo & Note

Hi Errol,

Since your address is not included in Derrel's e-mail list and I am sure I can share the e-mail message below with you and others, here it is. Has anyone else tried to read the contents of the "Ramey Note" in the past with any success as Ronald Regehr and other team members claim to have had?

Nick

Subject: Ramey Note

Hello my friends,

Things move too swiftly sometimes for me to keep up. As you might be aware, several of us have deciphered much of the note Gen. Ramey is holding in his hand in the infamous "Ramey/DuBose" photo taken by James Bond Johnson over 51 years ago. The "translation" was performed indendently at at least two locations and achieved an outstanding degree of correlation. Each team member worked from a 16 x 20 print made from the original negatives available from the UTA archives. The file from which I worked is a scanned image of solely the message and is 821 megabytes (this from an approximate 1" x 3/8" image size!). Because of the differing image intensities we were required to vary the brightness and contrast of different areas
