

Aliens On Earth.com

Resources for those who are stranded here

UFOs | Paranormal | Area 51
People | Places | Random
Top 100 | What's New
Catalog | New Books

Search... for keyword(s)

in Page Titles

Our Bookstore
is OPEN

Mothership -> UFO -> Updates -> 1999 -> Jun -> Here

UFO UpDates Mailing List

Re: Biological Evidence Of An Alien Entity?

From: Jim Mortellaro <Jsmortell@aol.com>
Date: Thu, 3 Jun 1999 13:59:03 EDT
Fwd Date: Fri, 04 Jun 1999 11:08:17 -0400
Subject: Re: Biological Evidence Of An Alien Entity?

>From: Henny van der Pluijm <hydp@worldonline.nl>
>Date: Thu, 3 Jun 1999 02:12:07 +0200 (MET DST)
>To: UFO UpDates - Toronto <updates@globalserve.net>
>Subject: Re: Biological Evidence Of An Alien Entity?

>>Date: Tue, 01 Jun 1999 21:05:52 -0700
>>From: Kim Burrafato <lensman@stardrive.org>
>>To: UFO UpDates - Toronto <updates@globalserve.net>
>>Subject: Re: Biological Evidence Of An Alien Entity?

>>I've been wondering how long it would take for biological trace >>evidence like this to show up. The fact that the hair is of an >>extremely rare human line -- Chinese mongoloid -- and blonde to >>boot -- is intriguing. But it's not definitive proof of >>extraterrestrial origin. My question to those well versed in >>molecular genetics, is what would constitute DNA that could be >>generally regarded as being of non-terrestrial origin? How >>different would it have to be from the DNA of the simplest >>terrestrial organism in order to be defined as "ET DNA"?

>This is an interesting question. For the annoying reason that it >cannot be answered, since nobody knows what ET DNA looks like.
>I guess this is a catch-22 situation. If the DNA resembles human >DNA too much, it is human DNA. If the DNA differs too much from >human DNA, it might be the DNA of an unknown animal. So either >way it is not proof of ET.

>Organized science will treat the DNA as it treats other sorts of >evidence. If people see a UFO it isn't proof of anything. If a >UFO is photographed it can be anything but an extraterrestrial >object. When thousands of people report visiting entities it >isn't proof of anything. When UFO's leave 4,000 traces on the >ground the data are ignored. When you have a radar-visual case >it is still anything but a extraterrestrial object. When >fragments of a crashed UFO are found and analyzed the scientific >community ignores it. It will be the same with DNA.

>The crux of the matter is what John Velez said on this forum a >few weeks ago. Humanity is simply not ready for accepting the >presence of intelligent non-human beings on earth, whether on >foot or in flying craft. Until that situation changes, and this >will be a slow process, the scientific establishment will not >take UFO's seriously, at least in public.

This is the best, most succinct and honest revelation of the facts of life regarding UFOs and the actions of their occupants I've ever read. Thank you, Sir.

However, and not wishing to speak for anyone else, some of the fear expressed on this list related to when the time came for the proof to be undeniable, and people are discovered to be lizard spawn, or gray spawn ... or perhaps even gray poopspawn.

Sorry, I was unable to restrain myself.

The concern is that when discovery is made that, say I or Velez, Art Bell or (God Forbid because it would really give the lizard spawn race a black eye) Fill Class, were discovered to be such offspring, that we would become the "Strange Fruit" hanging from the Poplar tree Billy Holiday sang about. Frankly, despite the fantastic Rimbaudian imagery, I don't like the view from a poplar branch ... much like my brothers and sisters, most likely.

But somehow, I just don't think that will happen. Just my opinion. If it is discovered that some of us are really alien spawn, lizard spawn or otherwise, I tend to believe that we will be preserved by the goobers in gubbamint and analyzed, poked, prodded and sucked for body fluids more than the buggers (uh, bugs) did to us. No, I rather think we will be relatively safe, albeit not free. But then again, who is these days? And please, don't argue with me on this issue. Anyone out there in the ether think you're free? Hee, hee. Right! And the check is in the mail. And, "Don't worry, sweetheart, I'm sterile!" Uh huh. Freedom no longer rings. It tried but no one heard it. Like that Poplar tree falling in the forest ... where no one was around to hear it fall? Therefore it didn't? And where those black bodies with bright spirits hung, in the south of our great nation, and in the camps in Europe.... etc. And continue to hang, as there are better, more insidious ways to hang a man without a rope or a poplar tree.

People have no idea what it is like to be in the position of someone who has (what to that person, are "real") memories of these events. Unless of course, you've been thru it. It creates a level of fear, which evolves over your lifetime, into either terror or some benign "they are our saviors and they love us" tripe. Not only are experiencers saddled with the memories, which are all too real to us, but the ancillary fears, phobias and emotional issues too complex to verbalize here. Some never speak of it. Some, idiots to a man, woman and child, are unafraid to talk about it. Many, like Velez, recommend keeping it quiet. I concur. Because while I do not think the lynch mobs will win, I think the goobers in gubbamint will. And I fear them more than I fear my neighbors with ropes. At least it's over relatively quickly at the end of a rope. But at the end of the corridor, at the camps set up for us, it could be a lifetime of terror, the memories of which will radiate into the universe just like those who've suffered in other camps, at other times thru-out our history. Jerks that we are.

Which is why I continue to believe that to be an inebriant or a nut is so cool. Do you remember that old geezer in "Andromeda Strain" who drank Sterno? Sumbitch didn't die with the rest of 'em. And the baby whose lungs saved it.

See the messages here? No? OK, let me tell you what the messages are:

- 1) Don't drink Sterno, drink Gripple, it tastes better.
- 2) Weep.

Gesundt

[Next Message | Previous Message | This Day's Messages]
[This Month's Index | UFO UpDates Main Index | MUFON Ontario]

UFO UpDates - Toronto - updates@globalserve.net
Operated by Errol Bruce-Knapp - ++ 416-696-0304

A Hand-Operated E-Mail Subscription Service for the Study of UFO Related Phenomena.
To subscribe please send your first and last name to updates@globalserve.net Message submissions should be sent to the same address.

[UFO Topics | People | Ufomind What's New | Ufomind Top Level]

To find this message again in the future...
Link it to the appropriate Ufologist or UFO Topic page.

Archived as a public service by Area 51 Research Center which is not responsible for content.
Software by Glenn Campbell. Technical contact: webmaster@ufomind.com

Financial support for this web server is provided by the Research Center Catalog.