Uh, Steve,

Actually my most recent posts were in response to David Rudiak calling James Easton bird-brained, to which I took exception on general principle and called him bird-brained back.

While you may not have appreciated them, the questions I asked Rudiak were direct and to the point. As one of the more vociferous online supporters of the ET crash at Roswell theory, I simply wanted him to follow up his "logic."

He's so good at pontificating about what did and didn't land near Roswell that I hoped he would share his bountiful knowledge about same with the rest of us mere mortals, clueing us in to as how many UFOs actually crashed, where and when, how many bodies were retrieved therefrom, where they were sent, when MJ-12 was organized, by whom and when, who it consisted of and so on. Oh, yes, and by the way, how much of that Corso crap did he subscribe to?

Sorry you aren't interested in answers to same. But not to worry: Rudiak doesn't have any.

Dennis
