John and List,

A couple of months back here in the UK a BBC team, I think it was from the "Country File" program at BBC Bristol, challenged Doug and Dave + their team of helpers to produce a "circle" under real life circumstances out in the fields at night. They did produce a circle/design at night and with hords of circle watchers in the vicinity, even though the camera team was a bit of a dead givaway.

I don't think it really proved anything in the end though, other than, yes the hoaxers can "do it" at night and under the eyes of the watchers.
