Dear All,

Can anyone check this out - we've heard it all before and if the guy continues to make his claims then we'll maybe have to remind him that the ideas were on the drawing board in the 1930s - and were interrupted by WW2.

Nevertheless, if this claim is genuine then it may throw new light on things....

Bye for now,

Tim Matthews

Subject: Fwd: IBM Chairman Confirms Alien Tech?

Thanks to my journalist friend Patrick McCartney for the following:

From: Outlook - Tomorrow's Technology Today (UK Computer Magazine), April 1999:

IBM IN 'PROJECT BLUE BOOK' UFO PROBE

A theory which for years has been regarded as nothing more than the wild speculations of the lunatic fringe has, this month, been given new credibilty by Jerry Hartsell, ex-Chairman of IT giant IBM.

He claims in his new autobiography that the original silicon chip technology, which underpinned the IT explosion of the late 20th century, was derived from a secret US government project of the late 1950s that aimed to investigate 'technology of a non-terrestrial origin'. The baffling claim has fuelled further speculation that the 'non-terrestrial technology' may have been recovered from the alleged UFO crash site at Roswell.
