You, Harney et al. seem to forget Stan was a not insignificant player in the Barney and Betty Hill case, albeit with respect to an almost nutsy-boltsy matter: the star map and Marjorie Fish's work re same. This certainly doesn't make him an abductologist, but it suggests why he might be a good choice as an abduction conference presenter.

I don't know what Stan spoke of at the conference, but if he addressed the star map and its implications, then he just may have contributed in some small degree to bringing abductology back down to earth, so to speak, and to re-linking the subject in some substantial way to ufology.
