More Crop Circles - Acadia Valley, Alberta

September 19, 1999

Editor:
Paul Anderson

Preliminary Report - September 19

By Paul Anderson

Yet another crop circle formation reported this morning, by farmer Carl Kuhn at Acadia Valley, Alberta, near the Saskatchewan border. First found on September 4, while combining.

Three circles in a durum wheat field. They are in a straight line, spaced about 10 feet apart. First two are about 30 feet in diameter, the largest on the right end is about 60 feet diameter. All have counterclockwise lay.

In the largest circle, there are random single standing stalks of wheat, spaced about every two or three square feet, which show no signs of ever having been touched or flattened down.

Farmer reported no damage, tracks or entry pathways, with very neat lay of the crop.

Further field report, images when available.

This is the thirteenth formation reported now for this year.
