Subject: [lunascan] Monolith On Phobos

I just put up a web page on a very interesting image of Phobos from the Mars Global Surveyor. It really is a monolith. Whether or not it's artificial remains to be seen, but it is a very large structure on a very small moon.

The URL is:

<http://www.vgl.org/webfiles/mars/phobos/phobos.htm>

Fran might be interested in this, because it's very similar to the "Blair Cuspids" on the moon - our moon - and he had a lot to do with digging up the information on those Lunar Orbiter images a couple years ago. This thing on Phobos is a lot larger than any of the Cuspids, though.
